Dear Sir/Madam:

Let me introduce you to Erik Haguewood.

Erik worked for me for over 15 years wearing many hats as Peregrin Financial Technologies changed with regard to markets and technologies. He was always "fearless", willing to take on new/different responsibilities as we morphed through numerous business and technological stages.

Erik was primarily involved in technical issues, software development and IT support, but he also handled some customer support both over the phone and on site. And he even helped me in a number of sales efforts, including booth duty at local trade shows.

Erik is bright and, as stated above, not intimidated in taking on new tasks. He should be good candidate for a position that takes advantage of this long term, multitasked service to Peregrin.

Our business is now flat. So unfortunately, after we sold the operation that Erik helped develop, and he eventually installed at the customer's location in Dayton, Ohio, we did not have anything further for Erik to do at Peregrin.

If you wish to contact me regarding Erik please do so.

Best regards,

Sam Bosch
President
